

Navrang 2012

Come December, and along with the pleasant chill, comes the fresh breeze of Navrang – our Annual College Festival. Navarang truly brings the colourful showers of talents – known and hidden of our students to the fore.

The 20th , 21st to 22nd of December were replete with a number of stage and non-stage events, with the storming Raas Garba taking the lead. Not only students, but teachers also danced to the tunes. It was followed by the Creative Arts competitions namely T-shirt painting, Poster-painting, Glass Painting, Ceramic painting, Cartooning, greeting card painting and also rangoli. The Literary Competitions included Essay writing, New-reading and News writing, and Elocution.

The 21st of December began with the sports events. This activity covered the indoor and outdoor games including chess, carrom and running. Teachers took part in fast walking and running as well. The best physique contest was also organized by the Gymkhana Committee. Our amateur beauticians took part in Mehndi, Hairstyle and Nail Art competitions, while the mono-acting competition provided a good platform for our blooming actors. The more ambitious students became contestants for the Personality Contest becoming the King, Queen, Prince and Princess of the College.

The most crowd catching events –Dance and Music – were also held on the same day. The crowning event of the festival was the Prize Distribution at the hands of noted advocate Shri Ujjwal Nikam. With an amazing use of poetry in his address, he advised the students to balance enjoyment with academics. His emphasis was on self confidence, sincerity in any task under taken, and honesty. Members of our teaching and supporting staff were also felicitated on this occasion.

In conclusion of the report of our fest, I thank the Principal, my Co-Vice principal, teaching and supporting staff for their co-operation. I also appreciate the efforts of our students who are bracing themselves up year after year to handle such mega events.
